A correspondent of the Richmond Dispatch, writing from Savannah and referring to the fall of Fort Pulaski says:

The wild report of steel pointed shot is the mere nonsense, and parrot guns that pierce a solid wall—constructed guns that pierce a solid wall—constructed and firm wall of near 16 feet in thickness at one shot, is a munichism too glaring to impose upon any one. I will not censure them, not being informed more than the people generally. The report hereafter to be given by Col. Olmstead may present satisfactory reasons for the painful act he has consummated.

A large amount of stores fell with the fort—provisions for three months, ammunition, shot and shell, of 130 rounds for each gun on the post, not 500 of which had been expended. We hope however that Savannah does succumb, her citizens generally will not become Federal vassals, and we will meet them yet with the bayonet, where no walls shall impede our impetuosity. Our great Napoleon is still asleep.

The Richmond Whig, referring to the same topic, says:

Briek and mortars forts are powerless to prevent the ravages of iron clad vessels—that our true defense consists in obstructing the navigable channels which lead to our cities—and that our most efficient resource consists in meeting the enemy on land and offering him the same resolute resistance which has thus far failed and defeated him.

The people are represented as bearing up like heroes under their trying condi-not receive pay. Provided further, That the persons comprehended in this act, shall not be subject to the rules and articles of war until mustered into the actual service of the Confederate States; except that said persons when enrolled, and liable to duty, if they shall wilfully refuse to obey said call, each of them shall be held to be a deserter and punished as such, under said articles. Provided further, That whenever, in the opinion of the President, the exigencies of the public service may require it, he shall be authorized to call into active service the entire reserve, or so much as may be necessary, not previous to his signing a different companies in the service under provision of section four of this act; said reserve shall be organized under such rules as the Secretary of War may adopt: Provided, The companies, battalions and regimental officers shall be elected by the troops comprising the same: Provided, The troops raised in any one State, shall not be combined in regiments, or battalions, squadron or company organization with troops raised in any other States.

Sec. 7. Be it further enacted, That all soldiers now serving in the army or mustered in the military service of the Confederate States, or enrolled in said service under the authorizations heretofore issued by the Secretary of War and who are conditioned in the service by virtue of this act, who have not received the bounty of fifty dollars allowed by existing laws, shall be entitled to receive said bounty.

Sec. 8. Be it further enacted, That each man who may hereafter be mustered into the service, and who shall arm himself with a musket, shotgun, rifle or carbine, accepted as an efficient weapon, shall be paid the value thereof to be ascertained by the mustering officer under such regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of War, if he is willing to sell the same, and if he is not, then he shall be entitled to receive one dollar per month for the use of said received and approved musket, shotgun or carbine.

Sec. 9. Be it further enacted, That persons not liable for duty may be received as substitutes for those who are, under such regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of War.

Sec. 10. Be it further enacted, That all vacancies shall be filled by the President from the company, battalions, squadron or regiment in which such vacancies shall occur, by promotion according to seniority, except in cases of disability or other incompetency: Provided however, that the President may, when in his opinion, it may be proper, fill such vacancy or vacancies by the promotion of any other officer or officers or private or privates from such companies, battalions, squadrons or regiments who shall have been distinguished by the exhibition of valor and skill, and that whenever a vacancy shall occur in the lowest grade of the commissioned officers of a company, said vacancy shall be filled by election: Provided, That all appointments made by the President shall be by and with the advice and consent of the Senate.

A dashing exploit—A Lincoln Senator captured.

The Memphis Argus of the 11th inst., relates a very thrilling exploit of Col. Forrest and his cavalry regiment in which he won a panic stricken regiment of Lincoln cavalry, heading through the ranks of a Lincoln regiment of infantry, beating them down, mangling and killing them in considerable numbers, who in turn, ran their bayonets through the horses of the flying wreathes as they fled as the only means of self protection that was left to them—while Col. Forrest's men slew them in large numbers. Over 200 Yankees were killed and wounded in this brilliant and successful charge, and over 50 prisoners taken—among them Senator Doolittle of Wisconsin, who was there to look on, and was caught a la bly. The Argus remarks that he will do very little for the cause of Lincoln for some time.

Fully 2,000 Yankees were thus put to flight and routed by a single charge from the intrepid Forrest and his less intrepid men.

Veterans of Sherman were flocking to Petersburg by the thousands, and there is no doubt of his ability to maintain his ground.

Sec. 14. Be it further enacted, That the provisions of the first section of this act relating to the election of officers shall apply to those regiments, squadrons, battalions, which are composed of twelve months and war companies combined in the same organization, without regard to the manner in which the officers therefrom were originally appointed.

It is a striking fact, that almost all the prisoners we have lost have been enclosed in pens of stone, brick or dirt; sometimes out at sea, as Hatteras' and Pula-ki; sometimes on the Islands, far from reinforcements, and with no means of retreat, as Roanoke; sometimes in the bends of navigable rivers, where the enemy brought troops and ordinance by water, and we could not escape by land. Our prisoners have been taken by hard, open field fighting, chiefly without defense and against superior force.

THE BATTLE OF SHILOH.

A gentleman who was present at the battle of Shiloh, furnishes the Savannah Republican, of this morning with an interesting statement in regard to it, from which we take the following extracts:

Gen. Hardee was slightly wounded in the shoulder; he is said to have greatly distinguished himself.

Gen. Breckinridge immortalized himself, and proved himself as good a warrior as statesman.

There was but little skirmishing on Tuesday. One hundred and fifty Texas Rangers were attacked by the enemy, but the Texans drove them back with loss, capturing 58 prisoners.

Wednesday, Forrest [Penn.] cavalry attacked a regiment, and took 600 prisoners. Col. Forrest was badly wounded, and a number of his men killed and wounded.

Wednesday night five of our men were captured by the enemy on Sunday evening in, having made their escape. They reported Buell killed, and the Yankee army completely demoralized. The six hundred prisoners captured on the same day said that Buell was killed early on Monday, and that was the reason of our concerning them. This report was generally credited.

It was not thought that there would be another fight soon, unless the enemy was reinforced; this is not probable.

Gen. Beauregard was hourly being reinforced.

From a wounded officer taken from the enemy, it was learned that the enemy had on Sunday one hundred and fifty-two regiments, he estimated the force at about a hundred thousand men, under the command of Generals Grant and Smith. He said Smith was ill and confined to his bed.

General Buell's forces were reported to have been captured, as they crossed the river. They were thirty seven thousand strong.

The story of Huntsville, it was thought was by a portion of Buell's forces. Buell having discovered that Gen. Johnston had made a junction of his army with Beauregard, immediately detached to join his force with Grant, sending on Gen. Mitchell with a brigade against the railroad, so as to divide our forces while he attacked us at Corinth. There can be no doubt but our generals knew of this most ill advised prepared R.R.

Veterans of Sherman were flocking to Petersburg by the thousands, and there is no doubt of his ability to maintain his ground.

Our Half Sheet.

We are compelled this week to issue a half sheet, the cause of which we hope to be able to explain to the satisfaction of our patrons. Soon after the battle near Corinth, one of our principal heads, who had a brother in the battle, left for that place, and has not returned; in addition to which, we were compelled to leave for Selma, on Thursday evening, in order to obtain paper for tax books for this and joining counties, and procure other materials necessary in the prosecution of our business.

Our readers will not lose much however in the quantity of paper received as we give them nearly the same number of columns in our usual size. They would not be much surprised, however, at a half sheet, if they had seen as many of them as we have in the last few months. Newspapers have fallen around us, like leaves in autumn, until we almost begin to feel panic-stricken. Our former exchange lists at least one-half have ceased to exist, and of the remainder nearly one-half come to us on half-sheets.

Circumstances as we are, we feel sure that our generous patrons will excuse our shortcomings; and besides, we feel confident of being able to make up to them for all deficiencies in due time.

We are truly sorry to hear that our last week's packet of papers for Arbacoochee, failed to reach there. We made up and directed the packet regularly, but suppose that by some mischance it got into the wrong hands. We regret it more, because it happened at a time when there was great anxiety to obtain the news, and because we have a numerous list of excellent patrons at that office who are patient and patient, and who have been heretofore uncompromising under similar failures. We can only promise to use all diligence to prevent a recurrence of like character.

The The Hospital.

While passing Talladega, on our recent visit to Selma, we learned that there were several hundred soldiers of the new companies at that place, reported sick, some one hundred and sixty of whom were in the hospital. Officers on the cars who had companies in the camp and numbers sick in the quals, spoke in terms of high praise, of the devoted zeal and efficiency of the physicians and the constant attention and liberal contributions of the citizens of Talladega and vicinity, male and female. The list of contributions published in the Talladega paper prove these statements to be true.

But notwithstanding the liberality and generous sympathy of the citizens of Talladega Town and County, we would suggest to our friends in Jacksonville and Calhoun County, that with the number of sick already there, with additional troops still going in, the latter is too great to rest alone on our sister county of Talladega. Send forward more rations, pillows, bed clothing, food suitable for the sick, medicines, wine, &c. We feel sure that this suggestion is all that is necessary.

Our liberal and generous citizens have sent the to Virginia and Georgia hospitals and will now dispense their charity where needed nearer home.

Since writing the above we have learned that the ladies of this place have a large box of hospital stores ready completed.

HOSPITAL, TALLADEGA

CARE OF

M. H. CRUIKSHANK.

We are pleased to learn that Lieut. Moses Lee is now engaged in getting up an infantry company which he desires to complete before it's time expires that the conscript law will go into operation.

Lieut. Lee, has the advantage of 12 months active and faithful service in army heretofore, and was deservedly popular with all his company. We understand that he has already on his list some 15 or 20 others, who have been 12 months in the service. These will be of great advantage to the new recruits.

He has the assurance from Governor Moore that his company shall have a place in a good regiment now in process of formation, and that they will receive the bounty of $50 each on their arrival at Auburn Ala. They hope to be able to organize at or near Mount Polk, on Saturday next.

S.P.S. Since the above was in type we have been requested to say the company will meet on Monday the 5th inst.

Tribute of Respect.

Meers, Wyle, McMillin and Croom, a portion of Gen. Forney's staff, left this place for Mobile in the early part of this week. An attack on Mobile is expected every hour.

James Reeves, a volunteer from Cherokee County, who was severely wounded in battle of Shiloh, passed thro' this place, remaining several days at the residence of Judge Turnley, on his way home. He was shot through one of his lungs with a minie ball; and it is wonderful he survived so severe a wound.

We have seen a good specimen of salt, made by Mr. T. P. Mentro, keeper of the hotel in this place, from the dirt of his smoke house floor. He says he can make plenty to sell him independent of the Exhorters & Lincoln's blockade this year. Contact others to likewise.

New Orleans

After days of suspense and anxiety, the fall of Monday night brought full confirmation of the surrender of New Orleans, and the fall of Fort Jackson and St. Phillips.

Although the capture of our seaboard cities has been considered inevitable for several months past, some are now disengaged that they should be by the fall of New Orleans. Why the Yankees have not before now occupied Mobile and Savannah is a mystery; probably because they do not wish to spare the force to hold them.

There is this consolation at least in the news of the fall of New Orleans—the enemy have now done their worst—the days of their triumphs are ended, and the days of their disasters and defeats must commence. They can do us scarcely more harm by occupying our seaboard cities, than by blockading them. If they remain there during the summer, the yellow fever and other virulent diseases will fight our battles, and non-action will break them down by the weight of their enormous expense. If they advance upon the mainland, all past experience proves that nothing but disaster and defeat awaits them. The substitution of iron clad gunboats has enabled the enemy to achieve some triumphs, but at the same time, for all war purposes, has rendered worthless and thrown out of use, an immense navy of wooden ships, second only to any in the world. Henceforward, until some new and mighty engines of destruction are invented, forts and wooden ships of war will be numbered among the things that were, totally useless. Forts are already correctly denominated, "wretched man-traps," and a weed's navy, "useless hulks." Soon the low waters will prevent the use of gunboats on our rivers—the work of evacuating the interior by the enemy will commence—then the work of evacuating the interior by the enemy will commence—already have they been driven out from Decatur and Tuscaloosa, and we expect confidently by every mail to hear of the capture of Gen. Mitchell with his nest of 5000 chicken thieves at Huntsville.

Let not our people be discouraged—henceforward the enemy must meet us, where the advantage will be on our side, from our better acquaintance with the interior of the country; and thousands of Captain Morgans will rise up on every hand, in the shape of "Partizan Rangers," to waste and annoy them. Our ultimate independence is only a question of time, and dependent solely on the will of our or a people. If they do not easily yield, from motives of sordid interest, to treacherous Yankee promises, they can never be conquered. This we cannot believe they will do. The infamous outrages already committed by the invading vandals forbid it, the silent, sleeping dust of our brave soldiers who have fallen by disease, forbid it—the blood shed upon the battlefields of Battle, Manassas, Leesburg, Oak Hill, Lexington, Belmont, Pea Ridge, Dalton and Stetson forbid it—and the cheering hope of a future glorious and prosperous independence, forbid such debasing and disastrous surrender:

"Freedom's battle once begun

Rehearsed from bleeding sire to son,

The bullet oft, is ever won."

—We are requested to state that Wednesday, 7th day of May is the day fixed upon to organize the company of Partizan Rangers, mentioned in Capt. R. W. Draper's advertisement last week. Capt. D. will leave immediately for Non-garrison for the purpose of making arrangements to have his company accepted, but will call receive a number of others, who can join the company after the organization.

—We have been favored with the perusal of a very patriotic letter, from Mr. F. E. Ross, to his parents; of a late date from Goldsboro, N. C., and also a number of other letters from the army in various parts of the country; but we regret to say that a want of funds in our office, place it out of power to publish them, or even take extracts. Some of them are written with pen and ink, and much defaced by usage, so as to render some parts illegible.

In addition to the news in our Telegraphic column, the mail of Tuesday night brought the following:

RICHMOND, May 5.
Our forces have retired from Yorktown. The movement is generally supposed here.

CORINTH, May 3.
Gen. Kirby Smith has reached Huntsville from the Federal invaders under Gen. Mitchel.

We invite special attention to the notice of Col. Thomas R. Williams calling for volunteers to join him in the formation of a new company of Partizan Rangers, authorized by the late act of Congress. Col. Williams is widely known in Calhoun and adjoining counties, and no doubt will exist in the minds of those who know him, that he will be active, vigilant and brave, and at the same time careful to provide for all the wants of his men. Those who unite with him, rank and file, will have every opportunity afforded them to win laurels, as well as valuable spoils, in this most inviting field of service. We are pleased to learn that he has already some 40 enrolled, and we hope he may be able to muster a full company on Thursday the 8th inst.

We have been permitted to take the following extract of a letter from Miss Penelope Woods to her sister, Mrs. Fleming of this place, dated CHATTANOOGA, TENN., April 25, 1862.

My dear Sister Lavinia—

The last year was indeed a forerunner of sorrow to us all. Oh my dear sister if you could see the sights I see every day and hour, you would think it the forerunner of sorrow. There are seven hundred sick and wounded soldiers in this place. The ladies of Chattanooga have dropped everything, and are giving all their time and attentions to them. The hospitals are all crowded and nearly every private family have from ten to twelve in their family; besides we have to cook constantly for those that are passing on the trains. I am almost worn out, but I am willing to give my life to the cause. I know if you or Mrs. Foster would go with me to the hospital and see the poor suffering creatures lying on their blankets and on the hard floor, and hear their groans and prayers: some of them with their titles in their hands, it would distress you—never can the imagination picture the horrors of war, we must see it to realize it. But this picture will distress you. We are not so much disheartened about our defeats as you might suppose; true we never know what a day may bring forth, but this little reg't. was first in the fight, and last out—it was in every charge, and assisted in taking every battery taken by the brigade; and when by accident any one of the Reg't. was cut off from his command, he would fall into another regiment or brigade and fight on. Each seemed to have adopted Ned Ruffins' policy at Charleston, when asked what command he belonged to, replied, "wherever there is room." The company from St. Clair lost but one man killed instantly, and the Calhoun company had none killed, but both had several wounded. Our loss in killed and wounded I suppose is near five thousand, that of the enemy in killed wounded and prisoners must be near twenty thousand, and their loss of Government property about five millions of dollars. The Federals will never attack Corinth, while we have an army. Each seemed to have adopted Ned Ruffins' policy at Charleston, when asked what command he belonged to, replied, "wherever there is room." The company from St. Clair lost but one man killed instantly, and the Calhoun company had none killed, but both had several wounded. Our loss in killed and wounded I suppose is near five thousand, that of the enemy in killed wounded and prisoners must be near twenty thousand, and their loss of Government property about five millions of dollars. The Federals will never attack Corinth, while we have an army. We are not so much disheartened about our defeats as you might suppose; true we never know what a day may bring forth, but this little reg't. was first in the fight, and last out—it was in every charge, and assisted in taking every battery taken by the brigade; and when by accident any one of the Reg't. was cut off from his command, he would fall into another regiment or brigade and fight on. JACKSONVILLE REPUBLICAN.

JACKSONVILLE, JAS.,

MAY 25, 1862.

We have discontinued a number of papers with us in the last few weeks, because our patience has been utterly exhausted by their long delay and entire failure of payment.

If these persons wish their papers continued, they can have it done by paying up what is due at advance rates.

We shall have to discontinue a few numbers more, unless we receive the amounts due from them, or a considerable portion very shortly. No reasonable man can expect us, at a time like this, when every thing is in a state of transitus and uncertainty on account of the war, and we are debarred from collections by stay laws, to continue to expend our money for type, paper, ink and labor, and furnish him with a paper from year to year on credit, unless he starts credit figures.

NANKIN COTTON.—We have been shown a piece of cotton cloth dyed by Mr. Guthrie, of this place, of a hand-some nankin color. The dye was prepared of stone coal, and the color is said to be very durable. This may prove to be a useful and valuable discovery of a cheap and handsome dye for light summer clothing.

MARCHING ORDERS.—We are requested to state that Capt. Moses Lee's company have received orders to march on the 18th inst. They will meet at Mt. Folk on that day and march to the head of the Ala. & Tenn. River Railroad. Each member of the company must furnish himself with rations to last to Montgomery.

JUDGE J. STRADBELL, Esq., was elected Judge of Probate of Cherokee County, at the present May election.

President Davis has issued a Proclamation, inviting all the people to unite, at their several places of worship, on Friday next the 16th inst., in humble supplication to Almighty God, for blessings on our country: that he may strengthen and protect our armies; and that our country may soon be blessed with peace and security under His sheltering care.

ELECTION.—From the returns received, it appears, that G. C. Ellis is elected Circuit Judge by a small majority.

In this County, Hon. A. Woods, elected Probate Judge without opposition; J. V. Rhodes, School Superintendent.

MOBILE.

All the indications from Mobile are, that a manly and vigorous resistance will be made at that point. Gen. Forney is active and vigilant day and night, adding to the defences, and obstructing the enemies approach. We would express an opinion here, had we not been disgusted with the confident boastings of the impregnability of New Orleans, and other places which have fallen. We will say at least that Gen. Forney will do whatever bravery, skill and military knowledge can accomplish to save the city.

We take the following patriotic extract of a communication in the Mobile Tribune, by a lady, as a sample of the noble spirit of resistance and self-sacrifice, which animates the bosom of some. Were this spirit universal, we should have no fears for Mobile.

The following is a list of articles contributed by the ladies of Jacksonville and vicinity to the Talladega Hospital:

15 pounds butter	8 spr drawers
5 loaves bread	17 dozen eggs
10 dozen candles	1 ham
7 bottles cordial	8 boxes of jelly
1 bottle castor oil	1 bottle of port wine
2 packages corn starch	1 quilt
2 chickens	6 boxes pills
2 bottles Dried fruit	12 pounds rice
Apples, peaches	3 lbs salt
Pears and damsons	3 lbs soda
1 hot pot turpentine	1 bottle pepper
8 towels	Bologna sausage
Leaf sugar	Crackers
Mustard	Elm bark
Nutmeg	50 lbs soap
Sago, sheets	Potatoes
Cash 2,50	Black pepper

DUCK SPRING, ALA., 1862.

Mr. J. F. Grant—Dear Sir:

Permit me

through the columns of your most valuable and excellent paper, to pay my respects to Mrs. Stevenson and her family, notifying of the kind treatment that my brother and I received while at her house sick, near Decatur, Ala. We were permitted to go to a private house to stay until we were able for duty in our company. We left Decatur and started among strangers. We were taken in at this patriotic lady's, where we found her as a mother and a friend; we received the kindest and best of attention, by her and her family. But alas! with all the kindness and assistance that was given by her, and the best medical aid that could be obtained, my brother, Isaac Denton Walker, died.—He was a member of Captain Edward's company, (company G), of the 31st Alabama Regiment of Volunteers.

He was 10 years 10 months and 20 days old.—A good and obedient soldier. He died of pneumonia and Typhoid fever; he bore with disease 15 days patiently, and when the summons of death came, he was willing to go, and said when he left this world that he was done with the trouble of this life, that after death he would be happy.

Isaac was raised in Dekalb county, and left many warm friends, a Father and mother, brothers and sisters to mourn the loss of their most beloved brother and son. My respects are due to her daughters, Miss Martha and Mrs. Murphy, who visited us and talked to and gave us all the aid and comfort they could. They were kind to us, talked about the hardships of the soldiers and pitied them that were in the tented field and sympathized with the soldiers wished them to soon return to their homes, with the good news that the invaders were drove from our land and that peace and quietude might soon be restored to our once happy South. I am happy to say my friends, that I am recovering from my illness, and will soon be able to shoulder my musket and go out in defense of my country, for I am anxious to return to my kind and brave Captain and company. My thanks are due to that patriotic and kind friend, Gen. Daniel C. Turrentine for the aid he gave me on my return. He treated me as a man that loved his country and a soldier.

TALLADEGA, ALA., May 5.

Mr. J. F. Grant—Allow me through your valuable paper, to correct a report circulated through Calhoun County.

It is reported that the ladies of Talladega are careless as to the sick, and paid no attention to them. Which report I am proud to say is false. There is never a day, but what the ladies come to the Hospital and go to every sick man, and if he needs anything at all, they send it to him, let it cost what it will. I have been in the hospital ever since I went to Capt. Francis' company, and have had a chance to observe how the sick are treated. I am happy to say they are treated better than any I have seen in any hospital anywhere else. There are four white ladies to attend to the cooking, and they do everything to aid and comfort them. Having heard those reports, I was solicited to correct them by the committee of the hospital.

The citizens of Talladega and the vicinity are very liberal. They send negroes to scour out the rooms and to keep wood and water plenty, every day and they send women to help cook; and in general they are treated as well as if they were at home, and you will see by referring to the Talladega papers, who have done the most for the sick, the citizens have been very liberal with them, indeed they have. Hoping this report of the hospital will satisfy the citizens, I remain &

CAMP GOLDTHWAITE, near Talladega,

May 3d 1862.

Editor of the Jacksonville Republican —Permit me through the columns of your paper, to convey to Mrs. Fannie Williams, the sincere and heartfelt thanks of the company, for the exceedingly appropriate contribution of $500. Let me say in behalf of them, that language fails to express the warm and affection which swell the bosoms of the soldiers at the reception of such a gift, and from such a source. We receive it as an unmistakable evidence that the sympathies and well-wishes of the fair donor are with us in our glorious struggle for independence. Impelled by such incentive, where is the man that wears a soldier's garb, so forgetful of his trust as not to perform his duty, as it becomes a true patriotic and heroic soldier. Let me say that I will make the Fannie Williams Boys all that best friends can desire or hope for. That I shall not be found lacking in the hour of danger, but where the honor, the welfare and interests of their beloved country may demand them, and that they shall never bring reproach on a name so dear to them all. Again returning the thanks of the company for the generous gift. I remain,

Yours truly

INCIDENTS OF THE WAR.

From the Charleston Courier.

MEMPHIS, TENN., April 16 1862.

This war has given to history some of the brightest and noblest instances of personal heroism that ever illuminated the proud annals of a nation. There is a great spirit animating the masses—a spirit of pure, unselfish patriotism; but there is a greater still which lives alone in the hearts of individuals, which burns not less in the souls of age; than throbs in the restless impulsion of youth—a spirit which speaks with a voice of thunder and the din of battle, and yet becomes a Christian halo around the bed of suffering and death. But alas! the world does not always see and recognize the inspiration until the honored possessor has slipped the cables of life, and been borne beyond the reach of everything but memory and tears.

These thoughts are suggested by an incident which was related to me by Dr. Keller, concerning a lad fifteen years of age, named Charles Jackson, who was wounded in the recent battle and is now lying hopelessly at the point of death.

Some months ago his father raised a company, in which Charlie was permitted to drill with the privates, and finally became so expert in the manual of arms that young as he was, he was chosen drill master. In due time, marching orders were received. Then, the father consulting the age of his boy, and probably his own paternal feelings, gave him to understand that it was his wish he should remain at home. To this Charlie strenuously demurred, and plainly told his parent that if he could not go with him, he would join another company. Yielding to his obstinacy, a sort of silent consent was given, and the lad left Memphis with his comrades. The regiments to which it belonged was detailed to Burnside, several miles distant from Corinth, and here it remained until the Friday or Saturday preceding the battle. Orders were then received that it should repair at once to the field and take its position. Charlie was asleep at the time of the departure, and the father, unwilling that one so young should undergo the fatigues of a long march of twenty miles, and the dangers of the coming fight, gave orders that he should not be disturbed. Several hours after the boy awoke of his own accord,

At a glance he took in the condition of affairs, and his knowledge of coming events satisfied him of the cause. With him to think was to act. He seized his little gun—a miniature musket which his father had made for him, and gone upon the threshold of the eternal world as I have been, and my earnest prayer is that the messenger of death may find you waiting. Throughout my existence I have found nothing in my experience that has afforded me more substantial happiness than Christianity, and now as I here conscious that life is waning, I desire to bear testimony of a peaceful mind, of a firm faith in the grand scheme of salvation.

Prepared for death as I ought to have been, and as I hope you may be, but I feel safe in reposing upon the strong arm of God, and trusting to Him for my future happiness. Before this war ended some of you may be brought upon the threshold of the eternal world as I have been, and my earnest prayer is that the messenger of death may find you waiting. Throughout my existence I have found nothing in my experience that has afforded me more substantial happiness than Christianity, and now as I here conscious that life is waning, I desire to bear testimony of a peaceful mind, of a firm faith in the grand scheme of salvation.

"Farwell, my comrades, and may we all meet in a better world."

PROSSENE.

RICHMOND, May 7.

An official letter received from General Johnson, states that he had arrived at Williamsburg on Monday.

The enemy attacked our rear guard in great force, and were driven back, about a mile to the woods.

The troops principally engaged on our side were Stewart's and Longstreet's commands.

The report is current on the streets

this morning, this morning, that in the above affair the enemy were completely repulsed with the loss of several hundred prisoners.

This report is traced to a soldier who arrived this morning from below, and affirmed that a letter from Gen. McLawson to Gen. Cobb, was read in his hearing, commanding the troops to withdraw from the front of Williamsburg.

Subsequently a dispatch has been received by the Secretary of war, from

Gen. Jackson's advance force at Williamsburg.

The Dispatch of this morning says

on the authority of Capt. Hill, that a steamer which has been shelling our batteries for days at the point in

of Wright County,

was attacked by three

of our gunboats yesterday and silenced

three hundred and twenty bessons captured at Williamsburg on Monday, and expended here last evening.

The city is excited by reports of more fighting on the Peninsula.

Mobile, May 7.

Northern papers of the 4th inst.,

have been received.

A Special dispatch from Washington to the New York Times, says it is reported that all the members of Congress from the border states, and a number of conservative sympathizers from other States, are seriously considering the prospect of withdrawing from the Senate and house of Representatives of the United States.

There is great excitement in the city of Baltimore on the

and celebrated Cavalry Regt. The object of this obituary was just four months serving when he died at Clarkesville, Tenn., as above stated. His malady was typhoid pneumonia. Of his tranquil death a young lady who resided with him the last two days of his illness writes:

"He died peacefully as the Christian alone dies. Being too weak to speak, he signed by signs a perfect willingness to depart. When I asked him if he felt prepared for the change, he answered in the affirmative without the least hesitancy. He did a martyr to our country's cause."

Such is the feeling that affectionate parents, kind brothers and a sister have laid upon the altar of their country in the stormy heart of her peril.

SPECIAL ORDER NO. 1.

Headquarters, Talladega, Ala., May 13, 1862.

All soldiers of the 30th Regt. (Col. Shultz) who are absent on furlough, are ordered to report at this place, if able, on Monday next, the 16th inst. They are recommended to bring with them from home five days' rations prepared to sustain themselves on the march. J. B. KNITH, Major 30th Regt. Com. Post.

Committed

To the jail at Centre, Cherokee county, Alabama, three negro men.

BEN, DANIEL and THOMAS.

Daniel says he belongs to Miss Elizabeth Bryant, of Savannah, Georgia, and they belong to a man by the name of Henry A. Wilson, of North Carolina, Buford county, who lives near Towns, Washington, State. These were their owners, deceased, and they were about 18 years old, and were sent to the plantation of Stephen Hill. All three negroes are of black complexion—Daniel is a low-chunked boy, quickly spoken to be about 25 years old, weighs about 140 or 150 pounds. Thomas is rather spare built of common height, weighs about 140 or 150 lbs. and is about 18 years old, walked over the common height, has a high forehead, is a small, intelligent boy, can read and writes, says they left some four weeks since in company with another boy by the name of Charles who has not been caught, but was in company with those that were taken up.

The owners of the above described negroes are hereby notified to come forward, prove property, charges and take them away, or they will be dealt with by the law directs.

[From the Charleston Mercury.]

CHARLESTON!

By PAUL H. HAYNE.

Calmly beside the Tropic strand,
Am Empress, brave and loyal,
I see the watchful city stand
With aspect sternly royal.
She knows her strength, her arms near,
She's armed by subtle science;
Yet deep, undivided and clear,
Rings out her grand defiance!
Oh glorious is thy noble face!
Lit up with proud emotion,
And unshamed thy stately grace,
My warrior Queen of Ocean!

First from thy life the crimson comes
Whirls round our South to action,
And with the quenchless force of flame
Consumes the demons' faction!
First like a rush of mighty wind,
Which rends great waves asunder,
Thy present warning to the blind,
And wakes us dead with thunder!
Then comes with a prophet's gaze
The awful doom before them,
And heard, with horror and amaze,
The tempest surging o'er them!

With thou whose virgin banner rose,
A morning star of splendor,
Shook when the war-tombolo blow,
And yield'd his base surrender!
With thou upon whose loving breast,
Our noblest Chief are sleeping,
Give us the patriot's place of rest,
To more than vassal keeping!
Not while life-purified for fame,
They sought the gaudy round theee,
Welcomed the shot the steel, the flame,
Oh honor'd mail hath received thee!

Then fold about thy bleeding form,
The Imperial robes thou worest,
And lay me near thy bane-storm,
The Few would durst not fearst!
Should Faith and Will and Courage fail
To cope with brutal numbers,
And thou must bow thy mate and pale,
Where the last Hero stumbers.—
Lift the red torch, and light the fire
Amid those corpses gore,
And on thy soft-made funeral pyre
Pass from the world to glory!

Sharpshooting.

We get the following from the Petersburg Express:

A gentleman informs me of the death of one of McClellan's sharpshooters, on the Peninsula, under circumstances that possess interest sufficient to give them to the public. Several of our men, it seems, were killed while going to a spring nearby, but by whom no one could imagine. It was at last determined to stop this inhuman game, if possible, even at the cost of killing the hiring himself who was thus, in cold blood, butchering our men. So a sharp look out was kept for this sharpshooter, and the next time he fired, the smoke of his rifle, revealed the locality of his pit. That night a pit was dug by the Confederate soldiers, commanding the position of the Yankee sharpshooter, and arrangements made to get rid of the annoying creature. For this purpose a young Kentuckian was placed in our pit, with a rusty rifle, and provisions enough to last him until the next night. Next morning early a man was despatched as usual, with two buckets to go the spring. He had proceeded about two hundred yards, when the Yankee marksman elevated himself, and placing his rifle to his shoulder was about to pull trigger but the Kentuckian was too quick for him, for he pulled his trigger first, and simultaneously therewith the Yankee fell. Upon repaving to the spot—which the Kentuckian immediately did—he discovered a rifle pit and a sturdy Yankee in it. In the last agonies of expiring nature, the pit was provided with a cushioned chair, pipes and tobacco liquor and provisions. But the rifle which had been used was really a valuable prize. It was of most superb manufacture, and supplied with the latest invention—an improved telescopic sight upon its end. The pit had been dug at night, and its occupant had been provisioned at night, so but for a sharp look out for the smoke of his gun, there is no saying how long this Yankee vandal would have enjoyed the luxury of killing Southern men, without even a chance of losing his own worthless life. We are gratified to know that he has at last met with so righteous a fate.

The war correspondent of the Mobile Register writing in reference to the destruction among Kentuckians and Tennesseans at Nashville, says:

The dissonance among the Kentuckians was increased by a sermon preached in Nashville by the Rev. Mr. Baldwin, the author of "Armageddon," or the U. States in Prophecy.⁵ You may remember the work, and that the author's study of the Prophecies led him to the conclusion that the great battle of "Armageddon," spoken of in Revelations, would be fought about this time in the valley of the Mississippi. He referred to the subject in his sermon in Nashville and told his hearers that the battle would take place by the 20th of June—that the Federal hosts would be overthrown and dispersed—and that their dead carcasses would make "all the land to stink." An effort was made by officers present to stop him, but the soldiers who were deeply interested, would not allow it to be done.

Prentice of the Louisville Journal, says he has received the following letter, written in a very pretty female cursive, postmarked Georgetown, Ky. He says he gets letters like it every day, and almost every hour, and publishes this merely to illustrate the general spirit of the rebel women in Kentucky:

Geo. D. Prentiss: I have the pleasure of informing you your days are numbered—your death near at hand—Gen. Buckner has friends who are sworn to avenge him, and upon you they look as a covertly enemy; one who fears to speak while his foe is powerful, but who exults and sacrificially dires to "thank God he can exult over the downfall of Simon Bolivar Buckner." Beware George D. Prentiss. The REBEL guineas are gradually approaching Louisville, and what they fail to accomplish, willing hands and hearts will perform. Poison and dagger have put many to sleep who wake no more? Then let's assure that such is not your fate—CHARLOTTE CORDAY.

Her namesake, of old, stabbed Marat, and it may be that this correspondent will fit the old traitor out of the way herself. He should have been killed long ago.

E. T. REED.

PUBLIC MEETING.

The Citizens' Meeting held on Saturday last, at which Rev. Dr. F. Smith presided, for the purpose of organizing a military company, adjourned to meet again at the court house on Saturday next at 3 o'clock. It is hoped a sufficient number of the names of those who are over 35 and under 18, will be enrolled by that time to organize a company and elect officers, under the call made in the late proclamation of the Governor. Let all attend who desire to organize under the proclamation or otherwise. The times demand prompt energetic and decisive action.

LIEUTRAL.—In these times of extortion and high prices, it is gratifying to be enabled to record any and every act of charity and liberality on the part of individuals. We have been recently informed, that Mr. Frank Harris, who owns a mill on Terrapin Creek in this County, 4 miles east of Ladiga, has been for months past grinding the grain of in gentle families of absent soldiers, toll free; and that he is still willing to do so for all who are in reach, and will send their grain to his mill.

This liberality, which amounts to considerate in the aggregate, is very creditable to Mr. Harris; and we doubt not that as his reward, he will prove in his own experience, the truth of the little declaration, that "it is more blessed to give than to receive." May his good example be followed by many others.

INCENDIARIES.—On Wednesday night 14th inst., the gin house of Mr. J. A. Whiteside, 7 miles distant, containing some 20 or 30 bales of cotton was set on fire by some incendiary, which together with the cotton was totally consumed. Within an hour of time, the new Methodist Church at the "Narrows," about one mile distant was also burnt. No clue as yet to the incendiaries.

We are pleased to learn, that J. B. Walden, Esq., of Lebanon, DeKalb County, has received the appointment from the Governor of Solicitor of that Circuit. This is a good appointment. Mr. W. is a lawyer of ability and experience, and will doubtless discharge the duties of the office to the satisfaction of all.

We also learn that W. J. Harrelson of Lebanon, now in the Confederate service, and who was in the battle of Shiloh has been elected Judge of that Judicial Circuit.

MALANCHY CASTRATION.—On Tuesday evening 22d ult., Miss J. J. White-side, daughter of J. M. Whiteside, above and intelligent child, 3 years old fell into a well and was drowned before she could be got out.

We received an unsealed letter, on Wednesday evening 14th inst., from Wills' Post Office, signed by W. D. Petty and Allen Peavers, which stated that there was 4 dollars enclosed to pay for their papers; but upon opening the letter we found no money. They either forgot to enclose it, or it was taken out on the route; we think the former most probable, as they forgot to seal the letter. We have authorized and requested money to be sent to us by mail, but not in unsealed letters. Will these gentlemen please try to ascertain the wrong or mistake?

We are much pleased to learn, from the Richmond Enquirer, that Col. Wm. H. Forney, though wounded severely is considered out of danger.

Do not overlook the military notices by B. T. Read, Capt. Draper and a soldier.

See the Proclamation of Gov. Shorter in another column, on the subject of organizing companies outside of the conscription ages.

OLD GUARD,

Men and Citizens over the age of 35 in Calhoun and adjoining Counties.

The Governor of Ala., says to you for your highest interest, you who have some leisure, one horse, one gun and a heavy head cleaver, organize four companies for a short time, watch and harass and drive back marauding parties of the enemy on our borders and you will now serve as picketing to the citizens organization under the recent proclamation. Cannot 80 of us meet at the Walnut Spring in Calhoun county, two miles north of Jacksonville on Tuesday 2d day of June and then and there organize. Please meet there.

GUARDSMAN.

ON THE RIVER, May 15th 1862.

Mr. J. P. Grant—Dear Sir—Enclosed I send you a piece of wool torn from the hitherto impregnable Yankee gibson the "Benton." Our gunboats, this morning, under Commodore Montgomery, went up and attacked the Van Dorn ran into the Benton, broke of the rudder post, and damaged her otherwise severely. The Beauregard fired into and sunk one of the enemy's mortar boats. Gen'l Jeff Thompson had a party of men on board of our fleet, who guessed was a large reinforcement of the enemy, but could not certainly make out that it was so he sent forward one of his men to reconnoiter, who quickly returned with the information that overwhelming numbers of cavalry and infantry were approaching—the cavalry at full charge and as the word was spoken they were almost on them. Morgan told his men to save themselves as best they could. Those whose horses had not been killed, mounted and fled. How many of those on foot escaped is not known—though some did as they have since joined their chief. There are some sixty or seventy missing, a few of whom are known to be killed and wounded. The greater part of them went off in a body, and escaped to Sparta, in White County Tennessee.

Yours truly,

Attention! Dad Snow

Knights.

You are hereby ordered to appear at the Court House, on Tuesday the 27th inst., to be master-interrogated.

Any person desirous of joining this branch of the service, and furnish himself with a good horse and gun, will be received until the company numbers one hundred.

Pay—some as in cavalry service. For any arms and munitions captured from the enemy and delivered to a Quartermaster, the Confederate government will pay their value to the company.

A SOLDIER.

Thinking

it possible that a letter from this part of the world, would be interesting to some of the good people of Calhoun, I will this morning write away an hour, by writing you.

Mr. P.—One of Capt. Forney's company, returned to this post, yesterday, after an absence of five weeks. Of course all hands crowded round him to hear the news. One asking after another, another, a sweetheart, and so on your humble servant not having either, asked for—the Republican. Mr. P. being a thoughtful man, had procured several before leaving Jacksonville, and at once gratified my wish.

I was hoisted on a stump (for the first time in my life), and had to "read out" every line in the paper, advertisements and all. It was the first paper from home we had seen for nearly two months.

To-day, (Sunday) is the first full in the storm of bombardments, since the 14th of last month, how long it will stay quiet I can't say; sometimes they fire every two or three minutes, and again every fifteen minutes.

I have often heard sweater music, than the whizzing of twenty pound pieces of iron falling all around you—but like everything else, one gets used to it after awhile. For the first week or so, the boys would dodge at every fire, but after seeing that those who were wounded, were the very ones who got in the safest places, they quit the dodge games, and consoled themselves with the old truism, "what is to be, will be," or rather "if we are going to be hit, there's no use in dodging." None of our company have as yet got a scratch.

Many of the boys are sick, the orderly's report this morning shows thirty-seven on the sick list, and many who are reported "for duty" are hardly able to go. We have been very unfortunate since we came to this place, having lost 2 of our best men—David Ledbetter died of inflammation of the brain and lungs King or Typhoid fever. Both were cured for as kindly as possible, but soon knew of the approaching Yankee s. He divided his forces into three parties, dispatched two of them on either side of the road towards Huntsville, and on down the road to meet them. Soon they were met, and simultaneously the men, on either side came up, completely surrounding the Federals, which, when they perceived, they hoisted a white flag and surrendered at once. The whole batch of them had to be turned loose on parole, as Morgan had started to go somewhere else than that point, and had quite a different object in view. The men were opposed to being paroled, but wanted to remain prisoners, so that they would not have to fight again against us more. After burning up cars and trains of Federal property, and doing such other little tricks as is usual for Morgan, he departed on his way.

He went out by Lewisburg and Farmington, in Marshall county, and from thence to Unionville on the Nashville & Chattanooga Railroad, which is perhaps ten miles above Shadyville, and a few miles above Wartrace. There he cut the telegraph wire, and laying an operator and a battery along, he telegraphed to the Federal Commander at Nashville that Morgan and his rebel cavalry were advancing on Shadyville, and to send all the cavalry they had to that point.

The object of this was to draw the whole batch of them to be turned loose on parole, as Morgan had started to go somewhere else than that point, and had quite a different object in view. THE WAR TAX.

Mr. J. F. Grant—Dear Sir:

Eston, one of the assessors under act of the Confederate States for the assessing and collection of war tax, having found some doubt in the minds of the people as to the construction of said act, propounded to me the following questions:

1.—Were notes a subject of taxation under the law?

2.—Were accounts.

3.—How must property be valued, and to what time must the value relate, and who to value it; and requested that I should consult with others, and give an answer to the foregoing questions.

I consulted with Chancellor Foster, and his opinions coincided with mine, which are as follows: Answer to the 1st—the 4th section of the act is the one in which to be found the article of taxation, and "notes" are not mentioned.

Section 2d of the same law is intended to explain section 4, and notes are not mentioned in it. But in the supplementary act in section 3rd we find these words—"Provided, That the words 'money at interest' as used in the set which this act is an amendment, shall be so construed as to include all notes or other evidence of debt bearing interest, without reference to the construction of the same."

Then we think that there is no longer any room to doubt, but that "notes" are subject under section 3 of the supplementary act, to be taxed, and must be returned as other articles of taxation.

2 question.—Are accounts subject of taxation. This to our mind is not so clear for the following reasons:

1st.—Because neither in the original nor in any of the acts does the word "accounts" occur. It is true that in section 3d of the supplementary act, it is mentioned, but that is in reference to the collection district, or before the 1st of December, next, the list of each tax payer, completely filled up. If the value was to be made by the assessor, it would be necessary for the assessor to deliver to the collector, the list of each tax payer, completely filled up. It is evident that the assessor shall proceed to assess. What does the word "assess" mean? It surely does not mean the act of the assessor in placing the list, or carrying it off on his book. Again the assessor is to deliver to the collector, the list of each tax payer, completely filled up. If the value was to be made by the tax payer, then there would be no necessity for any filling up of the list, but if the list is to be filled by the assessor, then it is plain that the filling up is to be done by the assessor, attacking to the list furnished to him by the tax payer, the value of the property included in the list, so returned.

It says that the assessor shall proceed to assess. What does the word "assess" mean? It surely does not mean the act of the assessor in placing the list, or carrying it off on his book. Again the assessor is to deliver to the collector, the list of each tax payer, completely filled up. THE STARS AND BARS.

Fling wide the laurent banner.

To every southern breeze;

Baptized in blood with simpler name;

Ancient and heroic banner;

Brave to the steel;

That truly cleave the morning sun;

And steaming, sweep the night;

The emblem of a battle won;

With Yankee ships in sight.

Come, bucklers, from your sheaths,

Conquerors, from your ranks;

THE VANDALS Fleeing from Southwestern Virginia!

Immense Flight of Gen Cox and his Forces.

Gens. Heath and Marshall Capture Prisoners, Guns, and Camp Equipment!

CHEERING NEWS FROM NEW MEXICO.

ANOTHER VICTORY FOR THE SOUTH.

Bethel, May 20.

The Lynchburg Virginian of to-day says that about five thousand of the enemy were caught between the forces of Generals Heath and Marshall, near the narrows of New River, in Giles county.

The Federals seeing their predicament broke and fled without making a fight.

Eighteen hundred prisoners were captured, who, after surrendering their arms, were paroled.

It is believed that this news has been confirmed by official dispatches received this afternoon.

Richmond, May 21.

The following official dispatch was received here yesterday:

New River, May 19,
via Dublin, May 20.]

By a co-operation with Gen. Marshall Gen. Cox has been driven, from this section of the country, loosing many prisoners, his entire camp and garrison equipment, baggage, &c.

Moore, May 22.

A special dispatch to the Mobile Advertiser of the 21st, dated Corinth May 17:

Skirmishing continued yesterday without important results.

Our forces shelled the Federals out of the Farmington road.

There were no casualties on our side.

The loss of the enemy is unknown.

Indications portend that the great battle is near at hand, indeed the con test may begin at any moment.

The heavy rain this morning has post-pinned movements.

Gen. Butler's infamous order has fired our army.

Rev. Dr. Palmer, delivered an address to our troops, which stirred them deeply.

A Federal spy is to be shot to-day.

MONTE, May 22.

A special dispatch to the Advertiser &

Register dated at Corinth, May 21, at night, says:

The general pickets are skirmishing on our right and left. They threw a number of shells without damage.—On our right several casualties occurred.—Among the killed was Capt. Richards of the 31st Mississippi Regiment. The enemy suffered much.

A general engagement is expected to-morrow.

Our whole army marched out this evening. Our troops are in high spirits and confident of victory.

The weather is fine and pleasant.

Gen. Hallock sent 200 Confederate prisoners, having the small pox at Fort Pillow, in exchange for Federal prisoners sent here. Gen. Beauregard sent a letter to Hallock to day, charging him with bad faith and insubordination. Hallock replied, denying any knowledge that the men sent had the small pox.

from Corinth May 23, says the enemy failed to make an attack to day. There has been considerable skirmishing on the Monterey road. One man was killed on our side; and private Price, of Co. H., Crescent Regiment was badly wounded. Towards evening Gen. Hindman opened a heavy fire, and shell-ed the enemy out of the Farmington Road. Our pickets now occupy Farmington, and the enemy have been driven back.

RICHMOND, May 23.

There was a sharp skirmish about 7 miles northeast of this city this afternoon, the particulars of which have not yet been received, except that the enemy was attacked and repulsed with loss. The prevailing opinion is, that a general engagement will soon take place.

—Late Northern papers received at the Daily Express office say the repulse of the gunboats on the James River, had a depressing effect in New York and Philadelphia. It is regarded as a very serious affair Point, but no full account is allowed to be made public.

Seventeen men were killed aboard the Yankee Gunboat Naugatuck by the explosion of a 100-pound Parrott gun. The gun was made useless, and withdrawn from the fight.

The iron-clad Galena was riddled by shots from the Confederate batteries.—Eighteen went through her deck and sides. Fourteen of her crew were killed, and thirteen were wounded. The killed were terribly cut and mangled, many beyond hope of recognition.

The Monitor maintained herself in consequence of her superior invulnerability and strength. The balls glanced harmlessly from her tower. The Artis-took and Port Royal were not materially injured.
